----- As the long arm of the Matrix (only we're The Matrix) descends upon the earth and those who do not fight will fall, you, hero, must take up arms and spread your legs wide for the only girl who can save the world: Y2K! It's not easy being queer. It's much more complicated when you're a lobster. Come meet Yippie the lesbian potato-princess, Kizzy the insane computer lady, Myrtyl the anarchist lesbian skateboarder and fancy Andy the butler-wannabe beekeeper, for they are the defenders of the earth. It's time to see what's in the pool... EVERYONE GET IN THE POOL! We're all about giving people who don't fit into the superhero-model the chance to show their human-stuff. So, why not make an entire adventure game about a group of misfits, queer and otherwise, who collectively save the day and play through important themes such as - being afraid of the things you love, accepting people for who they are, and what it means to be queer. This game was designed for the queer community. We are queer. We are all over the place. So, we want you to find something in this game that you can relate to. If we can have your support, we will share this weird game with the world! what's happening with the US military...but it's a slow result to the general public because it takes decades. But that's the path to reducing the defense budget: it costs more for ordinary people to run their lives, they get slightly different levels of service, and war costs more in the long run when society is worse off after it's over. The government "overspends" to hide the costs of war. What's really happening is that the costs of war are being transferred to ordinary Americans rather than the gov't. How long will it take before even one charge is dropped? I mean, when the President says no further charges be brought, is the SS going to let it go? After the the proof of guilt will be right there for everyone to see? Met a former US soldier over the weekend (British). The man revealed how his local crime team had interrogated him to find out what he had been up to. When he said "military training" he was told, "why are you training with a gun?" The man told him he'd been taught how to use a weapon. Asked how large was the weapon he said, a couple of feet. Asked if it fired a projectile, the man replied "ah, a bullet". The cop said, "What's a bullet?" The man said a bullet is something that kills people. "What does your gun kill?" the cop asked. The man said it's a gun. "Which kind of gun?" the cop asked. The man said, a gun. "What kind of gun is a gun?" the cop asked. The man said, a gun. "What kind of ammunition can it shoot?" the cop asked. The man said, bullets, and the cop replied, "what kind of bullets are they?" The UK had WWII. The US had the Vietnam war. Let's make it so that none of those wars ever happened. The only thing that can NOT be safely assumed is that "no" means "no". That is because the British government (and I'm including the present one in that) have to maintain a plausible deniability that British soldiers are not in Guantanamo Bay. Call it plausible deniability, call it semantics, nothing does it. We will (because we've had over a hundred years of "free" trade) move to Central European nations like Germany (

DESCRIPTION: Super Runner was inspired by the classic "Defend the Earth" (Earth Runner), but with a more exhibitionist view, with very bright and colorful graphics and even with a story that embraces the unity of different formats and styles. PROS:

- The playability is awesome
- Runs on the best VR headset
- Has Multiplayer, even with tablets and phones!
- Consistent HD
- Consistent innovation
- GPU Optimized. Less FPS lost on mobile.
- Consistent and steady controls
- Good Game Length
- Good Sound
- Great charm and style!

All possible to be released for free. This game is ready for 3D, but I decided to release it in 2D, because I had enough funds to develop it. The release of this game can be the first attempt of my career in Game Development. What's next?

- In the next 3D version of the game. The next version of this game will support the Unity platforms.
- The next version will give the users a Support phone.
- A sequel: - More Skills - More Weapons - More Objects

DEVELOPMENT TIPS:

- First version of this game was released to half of my Patreon Patrons. These are the first versions of my prototypes. I had to pay for development with the funds I have and from my experience with VR development, I had to resolve most of the problems with Unity's release versions and with these issues I had to learn a lot.
- Unity, because I didn't know much on Unity's development style, I had to test the releases before sending them for approval.
- Instagram!
- Phone Call!
- Patrons so that I can have the support that I need!

PLEASE INTRODUCE MYSELF: My name is El Señor Johnny Toto :) I'm 28 years old, I love to practice design, I'm a Game developer, I'm a Gamer. I'm also a Mexican Gamer, not only I do I develop games, but I also design games. When I took the Web Development course I learned how to use Unity 3d and how to write Web Games. With this knowledge I started to develop virtual games for Android, iPhone and also for Web. My favorite genres are Action, Survival, RPG, Shooter, etc... and also I love to see
